

Copyrighted material

Copyrighted material

BETTER THAN GOLD

Investing in Historic Cars

Introducing the HAGI®

Classic Car Indices

Dietrich Hatlapa

Copyrighted material

---

1956, Mercedes-Benz 300SL coupé, in a wonderful photo by US photographer John Marian. The lightweight aluminium doors are opening upwards giving the car its distinctive “gullwing” look. This construction was necessary because sections of the tubular frame on the side of the car prevented the use of more traditional doors. Although not intended as such, the gullwing doors contributed to making the car commercially very successful, especially in America. It is also an instantly recognisable and attractive collectors’ automobile today. The reason for the relatively ‘low’ price (example transaction for a similar 300SL in 2013: £850,000) is that 1,400 units were produced, most of which have survived until today.

Copyrighted material

Contents

Preface		ix
Acknowledgements		xi
Foreword I The Significance of Originality by Karl Ludvigsen		xii
Foreword II by Bruce Johnson		xiv
Foreword III From dry ice to new heights by Dave Selby		xvi
Introduction		xxi
PART 1: The Market
Acquiring the Asset		xxv
Key Findings and Assumptions		xxvi
Chapter 1	Classic Cars: Loved, Cherished, Collected – But Not Yet Discovered?	1
Chapter 2	Classic Cars and the Collecting Phenomenon	5
Chapter 3	History	11
Chapter 4	Market Segmentation	19
Chapter 5	Market Size and Turnover	27
Chapter 6	Market Participants and Players	35
Chapter 7	Supply	47
Chapter 8	Classic-Car Restoration: What Comprises an Original Car?	55
Chapter 9	Interview with Three Master Restorers	71
Chapter 10	Historic Ownership, Ownership History and Their Impact on Prices	83
Chapter 11	Events for Historic Motorcars	89
Chapter 12	Source of Funds, Economic Activity	97
Chapter 13	Tax Considerations	103
Chapter 14	Pricing	109
Chapter 15	Transaction Fees and Commissions	115
PART 2: The HAGI Index, Valuation and Price Developments
Chapter 16	Definition and Background	121
Chapter 17	The HAGI Index, Depreciation and Appreciation over the life of a car and Typical Price Curves	125
Chapter 18	The HAGI Index Collectors, Investors, Exit	131
Chapter 19	The HAGI Index Valuation Trend and Index	139
Chapter 20	The HAGI Index Investability and Weighting	145
Chapter 21	HAGI Index and Back test	149
Chapter 22	HAGI Top and Sub Indices	155

Chapter 23	HAGI Index Historic Performance (Back Test)	161
Chapter 24	HAGI Index Monthly Charts	169

PART 3: Asset Class Observations

Chapter 25	Currency Considerations	175
Chapter 26	Growth in Global Population and Wealth – Supporting Historic Motorcar Prices	181
Chapter 27	Emergence as an Asset Class – The 1989/90 Bubble	189
Chapter 28	Comparisons with the Art and Wine Markets	199
Chapter 29	The Global Recession and the Historic Automobile Market	205
Chapter 30	Luxury Spending Versus Collecting	209
Chapter 31	Risk Factors	213
Chapter 32	Environmental Issues	219
Chapter 33	Investment Case Summary	223

Copyrighted material

PART 4: Appendices

Appendix 1	HAGI Index: Description of Constituent Marques	231
Appendix 2	Index Members (constituents) and Type Details	237
Appendix 3	Picture Gallery of Index Members	241
Appendix 4	Event List – Examples of Premium Events	255
Appendix 5	Events: Concours d'Elegance Examples	257
Appendix 6	Car Marque Lists	259
Appendix 7	Marques and Constructors of Racing Specials and Prototypes	263
Appendix 8	Eligible Cars for Premium Events	267
Appendix 9	Population Growth Numbers	281
Appendix 10	Wealth Growth	283
Appendix 11	The Drivers	285
Appendix 12	Tracks and Races	291
Appendix 13	Currency Rates (back test and monthly)	295
Appendix 14	What's Wrong With price? By Bruce Johnson	297

Glossary: Automotive, Financial	301
Bibliography	309
Picture Credits	313
Index	315